What Are Regular and Irregular Verbs?

- Verbs change their form to show time (tense) — past, present, and future.
- When we change verbs to past tense, some follow a regular pattern while others do not.

👉 Regular Verbs: form their past tense by adding -ed or -d to the base form.

👉 Irregular Verbs: change their form completely or stay the same in the past tense.

Examples Table

| Type      | Base Form | Past Form | Past Participle | Example Sentence                     |
|-----------|-----------|-----------|-----------------|--------------------------------------|
| Regular   | play      | played    | played          | I played football yesterday.  |
| Regular   | jump      | jumped    | jumped          | The cat jumped over the wall. |
| Regular   | clean     | cleaned   | cleaned         | She cleaned her room.         |
| Irregular | go        | went      | gone            | He went to school.            |
| Irregular | eat       | ate       | eaten           | We ate pizza for lunch.       |
| Irregular | write     | wrote     | written         | She wrote a story.            |

Remember

- Regular verbs = add -ed (walk → walked, talk → talked).
- Irregular verbs = change form (run → ran, drink → drank, buy → bought).
- Some verbs do not change (cut → cut, put → put).
- Always learn irregular verbs by practice — they don't follow one single rule!

Mini Practice:

Underline the verb and tell whether it's regular or irregular

- I played basketball yesterday.
- She ate her breakfast quickly.
- The baby cried loudly.
- We went to the park.
- He jumped into the pool.
